From London:

A1 or M1 North (or if you take the M1 you must eventually rejoin the A1) for about 250 miles.

Past Darlington, take the A68 to West Auckland and Corbridge. About 5 or 6 miles after West Woodburn there is a cross-road signed right to Otterburn and left to Bellingham. Continue for about 1 mile after this cross-road and turn left at the stone bungalow with a sign on your right marked 'Highgreen 4 miles'.

Follow the single track road over 2 cattle grids, ignoring a small sign to the left for 'Sundaysight' bearing left shortly after at the next sign marked 'Highgreen'. After about a mile you will pass a large house on the right and a gateway. Carry on a little way down the hill to Highgreen which is the next the gate also tucked away on the right. Beware: the gate to Highgreen is easy to miss! Go up drive to the house.

From Newcastle:

From Edinburgh:

Follow A68 all the way to Otterburn though you shouldn't go through Otterburn. Soon after branching out (1 mile or so) look out for a sign marked Highgreen on your right off the A68. Then follow as above

From Carlisle:

A69 (or more scenic Military road) to Chollerford
Follow signs to Wark/
Bellingham/Keilder
Water

At Bellingham(but not going into village) turn left straight after bridge at St Oswald Church following signs to Greenhaugh/Kielder. Turn right at junction towards Greenhaugh. Through Greenhaugh, turn right onto moor road signposted Coomb/ Highgreen (approx 3-4 miles) Follow signs to Highgreen.

Lookout for small ginger bread cottage up a hill on left, the gate to the house will be tucked away soon after, on left.

Train/ Airport
The nearest mainline station airport is Newcastle.
